Discovery Causes Much Excitement in Camp—Vein Five Feet Wide in West End Runs From $200 to $600—McNamara Has Samples of Almost Pure Silver.

That Tonopah is destined to startle the world by its vast mineral production and its large ore bearing veins has long been the prediction of men eminent in the mining world. That a realization of this prophecy is near at hand is being demonstrated daily. The search for the precious metals in territory heretofore supposedly barren, is now proving to contain vast ore bodies of great commercial value.

When the news of the strike in the West End and McNamara was conveyed to the public, the step of every man became quicker, and the eyes of the women of the camp took on a new glow. All yesterday afternoon and last evening people on the streets and in the various public resorts were gathered in groups of from two to six, all earnestly discussing the possibilities and the future outlook of the camp.

While it is true, as one man said, that the mines in the camp are producing right along and that dividends will again be resumed by the big company, yet the news of strikes of the magnitude of the West End and McNamara causes everyone to take on a new grip and that new life had been infused into the camp.

Superintendent Corkill of the West End, upon being questioned relative to the extent and richness of the ore body uncovered in the West End, the property of which he has charge, had the following to say:

"At a depth of about 380 feet in shaft No. 2 and at a point about 500 feet west of shaft No. 1, is a five-foot vein of ore that runs from $200 to $600 per ton. Work will be started in immediately on a station at that point, so the extent of the ore body can be determined. The strike is at the bottom of the shaft and is a sulphide ore."

Numerous samples of the high grade were exhibited and the richness of them caused favorable comment. At the offices of the McNamara company are samples of ore that mining men do not hesitate to say are the richest specimens that they have ever beheld. They are almost solid chunks of the white metal and contain about 95 per cent pure silver. The strike was made 650 feet west of the shaft of the 300-foot level. A five-foot ledge is said to contain ore that will average $150 per ton. It has been heavy in sulphides, but the ore body uncovered yesterday is strongly oxidized. Some fine samples of ruby silver have also been taken out. The extent of the ore body has not been determined in any direction.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The heavy and uncertain tone of the day's stock market was due more than anything else to the question of what is to take place as the market influence of the anticipated Union Pacific financing, now that the transaction seems to be definitely concluded. The outpouring of stocks gained in volume and led to a decidedly weak close. Bonds were heavy.

The contest was terrific from the tap of the gong to the finish, with the exception of a time during which the men engaged in clinching. Ketchell was on top of his man from going to gong, without giving him a moment's rest. Papke was sent to his knees several times during the fight. At the end of the last round Papke was plainly in distress and would hardly have lasted another round.

ATTEMPT ON DREYFUS' LIFE

He Is Shot While Attending Ceremonies Over Body of Emil Zola, the Man Who Gained Liberty for French Army Officer.

PARIS, June 4.—Just at the close of the ceremonies attending the canonization of Emil Zola, in the Pantheon today, when the shots were fired there was intense excitement for the president had been assassinated. Soldiers quickly surrounded Gregori, who was taken to jail, bruised and bleeding, the clothes almost torn from his back. The affair created a tremendous sensation in Paris. The motive has much mystification for Gregori, instead of being an ordinary fanatic, such as are carried away by political passions, is a man of mature age, born in 1844, and highly esteemed.

Harris, but the latter lost his job, for the gun man had the town with him. Harris heard that Quinn had killed a man and threw the handcuffs on his wrist. In lieu of a jail the constable tied his man to a telegraph pole. In addition he gave the pinioned man a severe beating. This is what sent the town over to Quinn in sympathy. A petition signed by 123 citizens to the supervisors caused Harris to be removed.

Mathan Dreyfus, brother of Major Dreyfus, who sprang forward to save him, chivalrously protected Gregori from the crowd, which was raining blows with canes and umbrellas on the man shouting "Tis not for you to punish; let the law take its course."
During the day the police made several hundred arrests, but no serious importance attached to these, for the prisoners were mostly students and rowdies.
